Halliburton Prices Convertible Senior Notes

June 24, 2003

HOUSTON, June 24 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- Halliburton (NYSE: HAL) announced today the pricing of $1.0 billion principal amount of convertible senior unsecured notes due July 15, 2023 which were offered to qualified institutional buyers pursuant to Rule 144A under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "Securities Act"). The company has granted the initial purchasers the option to purchase up to additional $200 million of convertible notes.

Each $1,000 principal amount will be convertible, at the holder's option, into 26.5583 shares of common stock of Halliburton which represents a 65% conversion premium based on the closing price of $22.82 on June 24, 2003. The notes will pay a cash interest rate of 3.125% per annum. Also, beginning July 15, 2008, the company may redeem any of the convertible notes at 100 percent of the principal amount redeemed plus accrued and unpaid interest. In addition, noteholders may require the company to redeem the notes on July 15 of 2008, 2013 and 2018 or in the event of certain fundamental changes at 100 percent of the principal amount redeemed plus accrued and unpaid interest.

This press release does not constitute an offer to sell or the solicitation of an offer to buy securities. Any offer of these securities will be made only by means of a private offering circular. The offering is being made within the United States only to qualified institutional buyers. The convertible senior notes being offered and the shares of common stock of Halliburton issuable upon conversion of the notes have not been registered under the United States federal or state securities laws and may not be offered or sold in the United States or to U.S. persons absent registration or an applicable exemption from the registration requirements.
