Halliburton Awarded Integrated Services Contract from Chevron for Shale Natural Gas Exploration in Poland

July 13, 2011

HOUSTON, Jul 13, 2011 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- Halliburton (NYSE: HAL) announced today that it has been awarded a contract from Chevron for integrated services for shale natural gas exploration in Poland.

Work on Chevron Polska's initial shale gas exploration drilling program is expected to begin in the fourth quarter and the contract award is for three years, with extension opportunities. Halliburton services to be provided will include drilling services, mud logging, cementing, coiled tubing, slickline services, well testing, completion and hydraulic fracturing. Halliburton will support the project with project management services.

"Halliburton is committed to delivering the same industry-leading expertise and service for shale gas projects in Europe as we are delivering every day in North America," said Brady Murphy, Halliburton senior vice president, Europe/West Africa Region. "We have invested early in Poland, and we have the people and the technologies in place to support this growing market."
